Pershing Reports Fresh Successes

300,000
WILL GO
IN JULY

AMERICA'S LEADER
AT BATTLE FRONT

General Pershing.

Washington, July 22.—Troops shipments in the Great American army in France will go on undiminished and unafraid despite Germany's second U-boat costal raid now under way.

July movements will aggregate at least 300,000 men from this side.

The war department intends to keep at its accelerated program. Re-appearance of a German U-boat with its sinking of four coal barges and a tug off Cape Cod should Sunday come as no surprise to well posted naval authorities.

Sinking of the coal barges naturally linked with the destruction of the cruiser San Diego last week. But there was still belief that mines laid by this or an accompanying submarine were responsible for the San Diego sinking.

The German has brought Schrekklichkeit to America and has brought the mask of courtesy with which the first raiders sought to deceive the nation and to influence pan-American opinion into disbelieving stories of Teuton frightfulness. Off Orleans, Mass., vessels shelled without warning and without regard to the women and children aboard.

The board of army engineers, rivers and harbors section will start hearing tomorrow, the arguments for government purchase of the privately owned Cape Cod canal as part of the Federal intercostal waterway system. The Fire Island and Cape Cod incidents will be presented as one reason for taking this link to assure greater safety for coastwise traffic.

PERSHING IS VERY DEMOCRATIC GENERAL

El Paso, Texas, July 22.—Americans who accompanied General Pershing to Mexico, in the various civilian capacities never tire of talking of the sidelights on the character of the general commanding the American forces in France as shown to them while he was in the desert of western Chihuahua.

"I saw a better character sketch of General Pershing than any of the writers can picture," said one cattleman here. "He squatted in front of a camp fire at San Gerônimo frying his hardtack in the bacon grease of his mess pan, with the wind blowing sand into his face and food and the general grinning good naturally all the time as one of our cowpuncher scouts spun a yarn about a buffalo hunt he was on in the Little Canadian, up in the Panhandle."

These men tell many incidents of General Pershing's stay on the border and in Mexico as illustrations of his regard for his men and for the service.

On an inspection trip from Nampiqua to Colonia Dublan, he saw a mule driver beating his team because they would not pull an overloaded wagon out of a rut. Jumping from his automobile, General Pershing lectured the mule driver, forced him to lighten the load, deftly swung the Clinton to sew up the game in the early innings.

The Clinton come to Xenia for a return game next Sunday and Manager Stiles is determined to make his out play ball and show the real stuff that is in them.

MICHIGAN WRECK

Chelsea, Mich., July 22.—Misunderstanding as to whether the second section of a passenger train had passed, caused the wreck on the Interurban line west of here Saturday night taking a toll of 12 and injuring 47 persons. Six of the victims were soldiers from Camp Custer.

The freight car which collided with the passenger buried itself past the smoking compartment of the latter car.

MEN SAVE THEIR LIVES BY JUMPING

By jumping just in the nick of time, Engineer Joseph McCabe of Fayette street, and Fireman M. R. Jones, of Spring street, saved their lives when their engine and five cars jumped the track and overturned at M. I. tower just west of Columbus, Saturday afternoon. No one was hurt.

The announcement that General Pershing had adopted two French orphans recalled a flood of tender memories to friends of General Pershing on the border, for it was while he was in command here that his wife and two children were burned to death at the Presidio in San Francisco. General Pershing's hair, chestnut brown, slowly turned to grey after his loss and he could be seen frequently riding on the mesa beyond Fort Bliss alone with his great grief.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NAVY LANDS
SAFELY IN EUROPE

The Hague, July 22.—Germany has arranged with the Bolshevik government for a guard at the German embassy in Petrograd, copies here today. The guards will consist of German soldiers, dressed in civilian attire.

Washington, July 22.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin Roosevelt has arrived in Europe, aboard a destroyer. He will look over naval administration matters.

BULLETINS

Copenhagen, July 22.—Emperor Karl has accepted Austrian Premier Seydel's resignation, according to advices received here today. Count Czernin, former Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, probably will be his successor.

London, July 22—11:55 p. m.—The Germans are heavily counter-attacking along the Marne front but their assaults are unsuccessful, it was learned authoritatively this afternoon.

Rome, July 22.—The Austrian army is preparing for a monster offensive against the Italians, dispatches published here in the Idza Nazionale declared today. The drive, it was stated, will be under German leadership with an Austrian in nominal command.

Washington, July 22.—Honduras declared war on Germany on July 19, the legation announced today.

Geneva, July 22.—The submarine base at Kiel is filled with submarines, undergoing repairs according to advices received here from Hamburg.

Provincetown, Mass., July 22.—Heavy cannonading was heard off shore here at 11:45 a. m., today. Naval vessels have been off this port hunting German submarines. Provincetown harbor is closed to all ships. Explosions resembling those of depth bombs were heard shortly after 4 p. m.

NAVAL CRAFT SEARCH SEAS FOR U-BOATS

Boston, July 22.—U. S. naval craft were sweeping the seas today for the German submarine which sank the Tug Perth Amboy and her tow of four barges, three miles off the Cape Cod shore. The weather was heavy, making observation difficult.

John Botowich and John Vitz, victims of the shelling, are in the Massachusetts General hospital here in a critical condition. One of Botowich's arms was almost completely severed.

Botowich in his account of the attack, declared one of the U-boat shells crashed through the pilot house of the Perth Amboy. This hurled him to the floor, practically severing his arm.

RESERVES HAND THE GAME TO WILMINGTON

Playing a disgusting exhibition of baseball, the Xenia Reserves practically handed a ball game to the Wilmington Clintons at Wilmington Sun day afternoon, losing to the Quakers by the score of 9-2.

Starting off lucky, by breaking the ice and getting the first run off of Hieronymus, the Reserves then turned around and let their slender lead slip out of their hands, and by a succession of costly errors they permitted the Clintons to sew up the game in the early innings.

The Clintons come to Xenia for a return game next Sunday and Manager Stiles is determined to make his out play ball and show the real stuff that is in them.

A derailler was set on the track, and McCabe when he saw it, applied his brake. The air refused to work, and the engine ran over the derailler, and jumped the track drawing the loaded cars after it.

POTATO BUGS IN MRS. HOOVER'S GARDEN! "FOR SHAME," SAYS LITTLE GIRL SCOUT

Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover and a little Girl Scout from Washington.

Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, wife of the federal food administrator, entertained a large number of Girl Scouts from Washington at her country residence "In the Woods." She donned a scout uniform herself and went into the garden with the girls. Here she is shown confronting accusingly by one of the smallest scouts who has found almost a cupful of potato bugs in the Hoover garden. "There'll be a war started against them immediately," said Mrs. Hoover.

QUENTIN ROOSEVELT BURIED WITH HONORS BY GERMAN AIRMEN

AMERICAN LEAGUE STOPS BASEBALL DURING THE WAR

Amsterdam, July 22.—The death of Quentin Roosevelt is confirmed by a Wolff Bureau message from the front, according to a Berlin dispatch received here. The message adds that young Roosevelt was buried with military honors by the Germans. The story of the fatal encounter, as told by the Wolff Bureau correspondent, follows:

"On Sunday, July 14, an American squadron of twelve battle planes was trying to break through the German defense over the Marne. In the violent combat that ensued with seven German machines, one American aviator stubbornly made repeated attacks.

"This culminated in a duel between him and a German non-commissioned officer, who, after a short fight, succeeded in getting good aim at his brave but inexperienced opponent, whose machine fell after a few shots near the village of Chambray, ten kilometers north of the Marne.

"His pocket case showed him to be Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt of the aviation section of the United States army. The personal belongings of the alien aviator are being carefully kept with a view to sending them later to his relatives. The earthly remains of the brave young aviator were buried with military honors by German airmen near Chambray at the spot where he fell."

AMERICAN TROOPS TURN TIDE OF WAR

London, July 22.—America's troops have turned the tide of war for the allies the Daily Express believes.

"Indications are the tide has been turned by America's sending in three months, more than the Germans could produce," the paper says.

"In the pocket between Rethymno and Soissons, the Germans sought to make General Foch show his hand. It was a gambler's throw which sacrificed the initiative. They now stand face to face with disaster."

AMERICAN RED CROSS SUPPLIES GO TO RUSSIA

Washington, July 22.—American Red Cross supplies are being sent into Vladivostok, the state department revealed today.

HUNS RETREAT AT ALL POINTS ALONG THE LINE

The allied advance is continuing on the whole Soissons-Rheims salient, varying in speed with the degree of German resistance.

The Germans apparently are concentrating their defenses south of Soissons and North of Chateau-Thierry to protect the west wing and center of their retirement. Elsewhere the enemy is depending mostly upon its artillery to stem the allied attacks—probably employing the guns in further withdrawals of men and supplies. Admission by enemy prisoners that the retirement will continue to Fere-En-Tardenois means the Germans will attempt to make a stand along the Ourcq, 12 miles north of Chateau-Thierry.

Paris, July 22.—The Germans have withdrawn through Epieds to Beauvillers, La Lîberette declared today.

Epieds is four miles northeast of Chateau-Thierry, while Beauvillers is seven miles northeast of Chateau-Thierry seven miles north of the Marne at Fossey. This indicates a withdrawal north of Chateau-Thierry on nearly three miles more than previously reported.

Washington, July 22.—Fresh successes by American troops between the Marne and the Aisne, were reported by General Pershing today. His communiqué follows:

"Between the Aisne and the Marne, the day (Sunday) has brought fresh successes to our troops. With undiminished vigor and spirit they have continued to force the enemy to yield bitterly contested positions. In the fighting of the past few days more than six thousand prisoners, more than 100 cannon and many trench mortars and machine guns have been taken by our divisions."

With American Armies in France, without opposition, French cavalry is operating northeast of Chateau-Thierry, far in advance of the infantry.

American field guns are firing on Soissons, while the Franco-American advance continues everywhere from Soissons to east of Chateau-Thierry.

Coulev le Chateau has been penetrated, placing the railway and the main highway from Chateau-Thierry to Fismes under allied control and thus adding to the difficulties of the German retirement from the Marne.

American and French infantry are across the Marne in great numbers and are heavily reinforced by allied artillery, which effected a passage of American prisoners from Soissons to Chateau-Thierry.

London, July 22.—Fourteen enemy airplanes were shot down Friday by British aviators and in addition three others were driven out of control.

WELL KNOWN XENIA WOMAN IS CALLED TO GREAT BEYOND

Xenia several months ago.

Born in Hillsboro, April 4, 1844, her home had been for about 50 years in this city, and for many years she was an instructor in music, in which art she was very gifted. She was a member of the First U. P. Church.

Surviving her is her daughter, Miss Jessie Pearson, of Chicago, who was formerly a member of the faculty of the Xenia High School. Miss Pearson, accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. Fred Miller of Chicago, arrived in Xenia, Monday morning.

Private funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday at 3:30.

POWER CUT OFF CAUSES DELAY OF THE GAZETTE

Owing to a break in the line of the Dayton Power and Light Company someplace between Xenia and Dayton the electric current, which operates the big press of the Gazette was unable to turn a wheel for more than two hours after the customary time.

Under ordinary conditions the company has in reserve an engine at the local plant, but owing to a break in it Sunday afternoon, the city was left without power or light for several hours.

Both the Hooven and Allison Co. and Kelly Company were affected by the break, as well as other local plants depending upon the Dayton company for power.

PROMINENT FARMER IS SEEKING DIVORCE

Alleging cruelty and infidelity, C. L. Weaver, a well-known and prominent farmer, brought suit Monday for divorce from Sylvia M. Weaver. They were married November 29, 1894, and have a son, 12 years old.

Mr. Weaver declares in his petition that his wife is guilty of cruelty, alleging that she accuses him of improper and immoral relations with women in the presence of their son and others, and has conducted herself so that it is impossible for him to continue to live with her. One George Codders is named by Mr. Weaver in the petition. He asks for custody of the child, and that the defendant be allowed reasonable alimony by the court. Marcus Shoup is his counsel.

GEORGE KESTER ILL

Mrs. Marion Kester received word from Camp Sherman Monday morning that her son, George W. Kester of the Thirty Fourth Company, 158 Depot Brigade, is seriously ill at the base hospital at Camp Sherman. The word came in a registered letter from the Red Cross. Mrs. Kester will go to Camp Sherman tonight or tomorrow.

A marriage license was granted Saturday to William Finney, 22, of Cerville, and Eva Sanders, 23, Rev. Hume.

YELLOW DOG CLUB IS ORGANIZED BY CITIZENS OF LIMA

O.S. AND S.O. HOME

Lima has set an example to the State by organizing the first "Yellow Dog Club" in the State. Those who read the interesting story in the Saturday Evening Post a few weeks back will recognize what a Yellow Dog Club is. One hundred members were secured at Lima at the first meeting of the club.

The Yellow Dog Clubbers' Club is informal, but effective "club" devoted to beating out the life of German propaganda in this country.

Clubbers may be recognized by a little lapel insignia they wear, picturing a howling bow-wow, the can on tail.

If in doubt whether a man belongs to the Yellow Dog organization say something like this:

"Say, Jim, did you hear the latest?

"I got it pretty straight that a German submarine sank a transport just outside New York Harbor."

If he's a Clubber you'll know it; if not, he'll repeat the lie and a Clubber will get him.

Persons who join the organization pledge themselves to be loyal to all patriotic movements and assist in downing Hun lies as they may spring up. They are especially instructed to demand verification for any reports that may be circulated regarding America's participation in the war that savor of German invention.

Sheer rumor has interfered with much of the work of the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., enlistment and many other branches of the war work. All the rumors were Hun lies and those in this country who sympathize with the Beast of Berlin started them. Then others innocently kept them going.

The new organization is the only one that aims to stop Hun lies. Every member tries to nail a rumor right at its source. It is hoped to check the yellowest of all dogs—the traitor Hun, who enjoys the benefit of living in this country, who wouldn't stay for a minute in Germany if he really knew conditions there, but yet would tear down the very foundations of this country to let the Kaiser become dominant.

The club has 10 "Demandments" which are worth reading:

One: Thou shalt go forth a militant member of Democracy to strangle the Yellow Dog of Hun-hatched propaganda whenever and wherever it raises its head.

Two: Thou shalt not wag thine own tongue in abuse of thy Government, neither shalt thou sit idly by and hearken to such abuse.

Three: Thou shalt not criticize thy Government except to the detriment thereof where such criticism may bear quick fruit.

Four: Thou shalt not become party to nor passively permit that arch-enemy of victory—calamity howling.

Five: Thou shalt do thine utmost to stifle the whine "This is not a popular war." "It's a rich man's war, etc."

Six: Neither give ear to nor permit the lying tales which falsify our Red Cross. Rather shalt thou demand the authority for such tales. Be militant.

Seven: Vigorously rectify the statements of him who saith that Liberty Bonds are not the safest investment in the world.

Eight: Thou shalt not dodge thy income tax for tis from such as these that our Government must look for the sinews of war.

Nine: Buy War Savings Stamps and Liberty Bonds—yea until it hurts. Having done so, go and urge others to do likewise.

Ten: Eight days a week shalt thou labor to the can to the tail that yellowest of yellow dogs—the enemy propagandist. Be unafraid. Be militant and preach the gospel of the "Yellow Dog Clubbers' Club" unto the uttermost ends of the earth.

Anderson, S. C.—"I got into an awful condition with what the doctors said was an organic displacement. I would have pains so badly that they would have to put hot clothes on me and give me morphine. The doctor said I would never be any better without an operation and I would never have any children without it. A neighbor who knew what your medicine would do advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did so and it made me a well woman and the next September I gave birth to a healthy baby boy."—Mrs. SALLIE JAYNES, 27 Lyon St., Anderson.

The letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S SORROW.

After days of uncertainty, at last, on Monday, comes the certain news of the death of Quentin Roosevelt. For particulars see news column.

One can never be the entire judge of another's grief. It is with sorrow as with countries—each man has his own.

Except when Abraham Lincoln was so sorely crushed by the death of his dear boy, "Tad," the hearts of the people of this nation have never so diversely gone out in sympathy as Wednesday, when the news came of the death of Quentin Roosevelt, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt. And perhaps there was even more tender condolence for the heart-broken mother than for the father.

Quentin, the youngest, was the "baby" of the family—only between nineteen and twenty years old—and had gone out from the family home accompanied by the deepest feeling of love and solicitude. Only other mothers who have sent their boys, can fully sympathize with this mother's heart, who, after she had seen three older sons enlist, gave her consent to have her youngest boy go to do his duty in the great struggle his country is passing through.

These parents, supreme martyrs in their country's sorrow, have been brave enough to say in heart-broken tones: "Quentin's mother and I are very glad that he got to the front and had the chance to render some service to his country and to show the stuff there was in him before his fate befell him." Only others, who have lost their boys in the world cataclysm over there can appreciate the heroism that it takes to utter words like these.

We suppose there is not a more widely beloved man in the nation than Theodore Roosevelt, for which reason he and his wife will have thousands of messages of condolence. These will all to comfort them that the sympathy of any of us can do for others now in great sorrows come.

If the whole sum of human life now—all part is that which consists in a man's feelings towards his country. We must all die—in what better cause can a man give his life than for his country, as this young man did. His memory will stand as a symbol of patriotism.

These parents are christians. "Most of our comforts grow up between our knees." They have the inestimable part of the christian's hope of meeting their loved one in heaven.

VERAL INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE ON ROAD

Struck by a wild juggernaut-of-the-road, driving a large machine, the 13rd touring car belonging to Mr. McDonald of Elwood, Indiana, and occupied by Mr. McDonald and four others, was knocked off the road and overturned, and several people injured, at 9:30 o'clock, Sunday evening. The accident happened a few minutes out on the Jamestown pike, near the Elbert Andrews farm.

Mr. Jack McCarel, one of the passengers of the car, was the most seriously injured, although she escaped fortunately. Thrown free of the machine, and clear over the high fence into adjoining field, Mrs. Jack McCarel escaped with severe bruises. Her husband, Jack McCarel, also escaped, but their little boy, aged two and a half years, was thrown out of the machine over the windshield and his legs were maimed and bruised. Mr. McDonald, the driver, was uninjured. Neither Mr. Charles McCarel, the fifth upant of the machine.

The injured people were taken to the office of Dr. Paul Espy, where Dr. DeHaven, in the absence of Dr. Espy, dressed their injuries. Mrs. Jack McCarel remained at the Espy Hospital, Monday, and Mr. McDonald also remained in this city, having his machine repaired.

Although L. Steinfels of this city was driving only a short distance behind the unfortunate machine, he did not see the accident or recognize the man who struck the Ford.

Driving a big, heavy machine, the driver of the big car did not stop when he struck the smaller machine.

The big car struck the Ford in the pushing it from the road, and turning it. Fortunately for the wants of the car, the top was on, and permitted them to be own free from the machine.

Common Fallacy.

"Dar is always a dangerous temptation," said Uncle Eben, "to suspect dat a man is takin' life easy if he doesn't happen to doin' de same kind of hard work you is."

FOUR MONTHS WITHOUT A LETTER.

Will it be considered pro-German to criticize our Postmaster General? It may be unpalatable to him to suggest that he might have been better serving his country by improving the delivery system in France than in acting as special pleader for the breweries before the Senate committee having the fate of the liquor traffic in its hands. "I have not received a letter in last seven weeks," a boy friend of mine writes from somewhere in France, and yet between his friends and his family more than one letter a week is sent over. A man writes to his wife from the dental unit "over there": "I have received no letter from you for four months," and yet the anxious wife writes every week. If Burleson cannot improve the mail service, he is not the right man to be given supervision over the wires.

A niece of the writer who lives in Europe in a letter just received from her most bitterly criticizes the U. S. postoffice department. She keeps in constant correspondence with three of her cousins who are in the service, but says the word from each of these is the same, "no letters from home," although it is known that the parents of these boys write to them regularly.

There is certainly a big screw loose in the work of getting letters to our boys over there. It is a burning shame that these men should be subjected to all the hardships of soldier life and yet to be deprived of the inestimable comfort of hearing from their home. The complaint is widespread. We hear it from all directions.

If the United States has not a postoffice department in France, to get letters to our soldiers, the administration is failing down in a most important particular.

And if they have one there, and the trouble is concerning the different languages of the two countries, let the inefficiency regarding this be promptly remedied. We are a big enough country to overcome a matter like this and should do so promptly.

We call on Senator Warren G. Harding and Congressman S. D. Fess to give especial attention in an effort to see that this shameful wrong to our boys over there is corrected.

Commenting this morning on the

TIME TO TALK PEACE WHEN OUR ARMIES ARE IN BERLIN, SAYS FESS

"We must not allow the recent success of the French and Americans on the west front to mislead us into the belief that the war is of short duration. The allied success was only on a line of 22 miles front out of possibly 150 miles with a force of probably 300,000 when there are about 4,000,000 men on the front line," said Congressman S. D. Fess to the congregation at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, upon the occasion of the dedication of the service flag of the people. "This thing will serve to awaken the people, and I am glad that they have done it. Germany foolishly imagines that she can force a peace through undertaking to terrorize us. Such a thing as happened on the coast yesterday can only succeed in fairly arousing our people. Germany is in bad straits, and she thinks she can thus force a peace, but the only time peace can be considered is when our army is in Berlin and can force peace.

The names of 21 young men and one young woman in the service, were borne on the service flag which was dedicated by the Presbyterians. The woman represented on the flag is Miss Anna Macaulay, sister of the Rev. George S. Macaulay, who is a Red Cross nurse "over there."

As a prelude to this service, Mrs. Walton, the organist, played the national anthem. This was followed by a solo by Mrs. Armstrong. The scripture was read by Dr. Gowdy and the choir sang "La Marseillaise," and "Oeward Christian Soldiers." The service closed with the singing of "America" by the congregation.

Represented on the service flag are the following: Col. William F. Martin, U. S. army; Commander Charles Earl Smith, U. S. Navy; Lieutenant Warner K. Bigger, U. S. Navy; Rev. Geo. S. Macaulay, Y. M. PREPARE TO STAMP OUT WHEAT DISEASE IN GREENE COUNTY

As preliminary measures to stamping out the wheat disease and insect menace in this County, County Agent Ford S. Prince has been working during the past week with Professor W. G. Stover of Ohio State University.

The two men conducted a search throughout the County for the common barberry, especially through that part of the county where the black rust has been so bad. In several places barberry bushes were found infected with the black stem rust which is so dangerous to wheat. In every case the owners have agreed to remove these shrubs as one means of stamping out the disease.

Everyone finding this barberry shrub on his premises should consider it a patriotic service to remove it sometime before winter. If there is any doubt as to whether the bush is barberry or not, County Agent Prince is ready to examine it and decide whether the bush in question is the dangerous barberry.

CLIFTON

Miss Ellen Estle is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. George Braley, in Springfield.

Mrs. Jennie Luse, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. John Johnson, of Springfield, has been spending two weeks with her son, Mr. Gilbert Luse.

Mr. Stafford McCullough returned to Denver, Colorado, last Tuesday.

Rev. Dodds, of Xenia, preached on Friday and Rev. R. H. Henine, of Springfield, on Saturday, at the preparatory services in the U. P. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crossley motored from Cario, Illinois, arriving Tuesday, and will spend some time with their sister, Mrs. Ross.

Rev. Wm. McKinney has purchased a new automobile.

Mrs. Clara Carr Thurston, after many months of suffering, died Wednesday afternoon.

The funeral of Mr. Wm. Brewer was held at the home of his son, Mr. A. B. Brewer, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Brewer was almost ninety two years old and a pioneer citizen. He united with the Presbyterian church several years ago. He was buried at Yellow Springs. Mr. A. B. Brewer and Mr. Jack Brewer, his two sons, survive him.

The third speaker on the program will be County Agent Ford S. Prince, who will make a general address on the subject "Random Shots." Mr. Prince has been working faithfully on the subject of wheat diseases and insect dangers to wheat and it is more than likely that a large portion of his address will be devoted to this phase of his work as County Agent. It will give many farmers an opportunity to meet and hear the County Agent who have not yet had that pleasure.

Those in charge we are fortunate this year in securing as principal speaker, Hon. A. P. "Put" Sandles, former Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, whose address on the subject "Feed and Fight-War Echoes", is looked forward to with much interest. Mr. Sandles is an interesting and original speaker and is always much interest is being manifested throughout the County in favor of the annual Farmers' Picnic and Field Day which will be held at Kilkare Park this year, on July 25.

Officials of the Pomona Grange, under the auspices of which society the picnic is annually arranged, are looking forward to a large representation of the farmers of the county and expect one of the biggest meetings in recent years.

W. V. DENNING IS VISITOR HERE SUNDAY

ARE Xenia people lacking in patriotism or are they merely ignorant.

Naturally, every one would rather think that the latter is the case, for to be unpatriotic at this time, is to be pro-German.

Yet, while the strains of the National anthem of our great and beloved ally, France, was being dramatically sung by a son of France, Lieutenant Marcel Jousse, at the meeting in front of the Court House Saturday night, but few men in the enormous audience were respectful enough to remove their hats.

It is proper that all heads should be bared on the singing of "La Marseillaise" and had there been a body of soldiers present, they would have resorted to force rather than have the insult continue while the Lieutenant sang the three verses of his battle hymn.

One man, more patriotic than the rest, not only removed his hat, but shouted between the verses of the singing to "remove your hats or fight." His words might as well have been shouted in an empty forest, however, as Xenia's masculinity was as stoically ignorant of any breach of respect as so many posts. It would have been interesting to note their acts, had the band struck up the Star Spangled Banner." At the time of the appearance of Sousa's Great Lakes Naval Band here in the spring, however, men stood with their hats on in the face of America's national anthem, the same as they disregarded the French hymn Saturday night.

Plans are rapidly evolving for the big Wheat Meeting which will be held under the auspices of the Greene County Farm Bureau at the Fair Grounds, on July 30.

The meeting will begin at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and a splendid speaking program has been arranged for the affair.

One of the principal speakers at the meeting will be Professor C. G. Williams, of the Ohio Experiment Station, who is authority on wheat growing and whose address is looked forward to with much interest by farmers throughout the county.

Professor J. T. Baker of the State Extension Service is another speaker whose address on fertilizers for wheat will be heard with interest by the farmers. Professor Baker is an authority on fertilizer and his remarks will be of a most instructive nature.

Professor W. G. Stover, who in company with County Agent Prince conducted a survey of wheat disease conditions in this county during the past week, will be on the program of the meeting for a talk and demonstration on the control of wheat diseases and in view of the recent loss in this county because of disease and insects his talk will be well received by the farmers. Professor Stover is from Ohio State University.

Those in charge of the arrangements for the big meeting are anxious that every farmer in this county and adjoining counties interested in wheat culture attend the meeting.

Present plans are being worked out to secure airplanes from Wilbur Wright Field at Fairfield to fly over here on that day while final consent of the birdmen has not yet been received.

It is thought that the aviators will pay a visit to this city on that day.

THOUSANDS THONG STREETS OF XENIA IN VICTORY CELEBRATION

The befitting celebration here at home, Saturday night, showed the appreciation of the people of this city for the splendid victory won by the American soldiers on French soil last week.

Never has there been a more magnificent jubilee in the city of Xenia than that through which thousands of Xenia and Greene County people gave vent to their feelings Saturday night, and which found expression in a line of march involving hundreds of participants, and was given impetus and inspiration by the words of Lieutenant Marcel Jousse, fighting Jesuit of the French army, who is a guest at the home of Marcus Shoup.

Gathered together into one of the largest and most imposing crowds that ever assembled in Xenia, by the music of the buglers from the O. S. & S. O. Home, and the new Moose Band, into the Court House yard, the people were addressed first by John W. Prugh, who opened his remarks with these words: "We have met here tonight to jubilate and celebrate one of the greatest victories of American and French arms."

"The boys are marching in France—we want you people to march here and imagine you are with the boys in France. Our flag never goes back, she always goes forward," said Mr. Prugh, quoting from the words of America's commander. "She has driven the dirty Huns fifteen miles and she is still driving him."

Referring to the celebration, Mr. Prugh said: "The keys of the city have been turned over to me tonight by the mayor and city officials and I hand them over to the best crowd I ever saw in Xenia." The speaker then introduced Lieutenant Jousse, although he needed no introduction to many of those present.

The Lieutenant-Priest, making an impressive picture as he stood aloft on the balcony of the Main street side of the Court House, the horizon blue of his uniform standing out in relief against the gray stone of the building, was greeted with cheers as he started to speak. "It is the first time I speak to the American people; to a crowd with hearts beating for democracy and final victory. Before me I see your old flags (referring to the flags of the G. A. R.) Your boys are over there—we shall see the old German flags here at the end of the war. Your boys are on the way to Berlin," he said.

"Your boys are fighting beautifully," said the Lieutenant. "They have taken 30,000 prisoners. There are many more remaining in Germany, but your boys will get them—all of them."

taking the first step to Berlin. "Your boys going to France are France is glad to see America coming to fight with her. We will sing two hymns in Berlin—"The Star Spangled Banner," and "La Marsaille."

Forming in on Detroit street, near Market, the parade marched south on Detroit to Main and east on Main to Monroe, doubling there and marching West on Main to King, north on King to Market, east on Market to Detroit, and south on Detroit to Third, there doubling again and returning to Market street, the starting point, where it disbanded.

The crowd, filled with holiday spirit, thronged the streets until late Saturday night, making the night a gala one. The occasion was one of the most impressive that has ever been promulgated and carried out here and filled the hearts of every one with a spirit of brotherhood for France and a blazing flame of patriotism.

THE WOMAN WHO CHANGED

By JANE PHELPS.

A CLOUDLESS SKY CHAPTER CXLIV.

It seemed that I was almost too happy. To have mother with me—to have George so kind, so loving—was all I could possibly desire. I was so glad, too, to have mother see how good George was to me. I had always believed that Phillip had told her I was unhappy. He had seen us when we were so many times at cross purposes, and I had foolishly allowed him to see that I was miserable. But now I sang and laughed and was gay all day long. No one could think me anything but happy, now!

I had so much to tell mother. All about the Babcocks, and their visit. I wished she could know them. She smiled when I said so, and replied:

"Stranger things have happened than that, at some time, we might meet. But I am glad for you to have such friends. Even if they are older. From what you tell me, they are still young enough to be interesting, while old enough to be of real service to you in teaching you many things you need to know. You are very fortunate, my daughter, in many ways. You must be grateful."

"I am, mother. At least I am now. "We all must learn, dear. Experience is the only teacher by whose lessons we profit. Someway, we all must know things for ourselves. There is always something in the experience of others that doesn't just fit."

An Uncomfortable Night.

We had talked late, mother and I. George was out, and would not come in until after midnight—so he had said. But it was nearly twelve when we went to bed and he was still out. I dropped off to sleep almost immediately. I partly awoke, and thought I must have the nightmare. I had been dreaming that I heard voices, shouting. I lay struggling to waken myself more thoroughly, then, suddenly, realized that I had not been dreaming at all. That I really HAD heard voices—that people were outside, calling and yes, they were screaming.

I sprang to the window. It was bright moonlight. I could see the street, and just then the clanging of the fire wagons brought a sudden realization of what it all meant. The house must be afire!

I dashed on my clothes, and felt along the hall to mother's room. She was already awake.

"Hurry!" I gasped, then ran up another flight to the servants' quarters. I rapped on each door, calling loudly all the time. I had heard mother calling me to come back, that she would waken them, but I paid no heed.

When I ran back down the stairs, mother was awaiting, and the firemen were already in the house. There had been scarcely any disorder: the fire was quickly under control. James had rushed downstairs and was watching that no one got in to steal, acting under the direction of the chief.

"You can go back to bed," the chief had just said, when the door flew open and in rushed George.

"Helen! are you safe? Thank God!" as he saw me. "How did it happen?"

"Crossed wires I guess," the chief answered. "Here in the floor. Didn't get above this one floor. Lucky that it didn't!"

"Yes, here!" and George passed a yellow-backed bill to the chief. "Get the boys some cigars," then, "Come, Helen, the chief says the fire is out," and without waiting, he gathered me in his arms and carried me upstairs.

though none of us wanted to sleep.

About three o'clock George insisted that we all try to get a little rest. I tossed uneasily. But, toward morning, the doctor had to be called.

"Your being here couldn't have possibly made any difference," I told him.

"I could have wakened the house, at least. I hope you did not injure yourself, running up and down stairs. Were you terribly frightened?" he leaned over me anxiously.

"No indeed! I just knew everybody must be wakened, that was all."

"You are a very brave girl. Isn't she?" he asked mother.

"She always was fearless when a child," mother answered. She had not yet quite recovered from the fright, and her voice trembled a little, but after our coffee and some sandwiches, we grew quite gay, all
